

HEALTH AND SAFETY POLICY

Perco Engineering Services Limited (Perco) is the UK leader in trenchless technologies including the provision of auger boring, directional drilling, microtunnelling, shaft sinking, headings, pipe bursting, CIPP lining, sliplining, lateral cutting, related consultancy services and the manufacture of pipe bursting and pipe replacement systems.

Perco is committed to a policy of preventing harm to employees and others affected by its operations, to complying with legal and other requirements applicable to its activities and to continual improvement. It aims to exceed its own and its client's expectations.

Perco's Quality, Environment, Safety and Health (QUENSH) Management System is certified to OHSAS18001:2007 and provides the organisation and arrangements of how requirements are achieved.

QUENSH is based upon established and published good practice and describes how the Company:

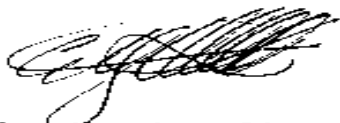

- Ensures individuals' roles and responsibilities are defined and understood;
- Identifies, assesses, and controls its risks;
- Plans health and safety into its operations and implements its policy and procedures;
- Provides the necessary resources to achieve its objectives;
- Ensures the competency its employees and others working upon its behalf.
- Ensures that infrastructure and work environment is compliant;
- Consults, communicates and cooperates with all interest parties including employees, clients, suppliers, contractors and other interested parties;
- Ensures that emergency situations are identified, planned for, tested and reviewed;
- Ensures its performance is monitored and measured;
- Deals with nonconformity, ensuring it is identified, controlled, investigated, reported, corrected and prevented from reoccurrence.

All employees and persons working on the company's behalf are expected to co-operate with Perco in the implementation of this Policy and will ensure that their own work, so far as is reasonably practicable, is carried out with minimum risk to themselves or others.

The Company will establish objectives and review its performance through the Management Review process to ensure continual improvement and effective implementation of the above.

This Perco Policy Statement will be displayed or made available at all workplaces and on the company website and shall be reviewed every year.
